Learn More about Energy Efficiency and Renewables at TVA Listening Sessions

The public is invited to join TVA Board members as they hear from a number of experts on Energy Efficiency and Demand Response on Tuesday, March 4, and Renewable Energy on Wednesday, March 5, at the Knoxville Convention Center.

TVA is developing strategies for energy efficiency and renewable energy. Panelists will share their expertise, particularly in the areas of policy, environment, and industry and technology, with TVA and the public.

Members of the public will be able to share their views on what TVA should do in each of these areas during a public comment period at the end of each meeting. Speaking opportunities will be on a first-come, first-served basis. TVA asks that comments be brief to allow others time to speak. Those interested in speaking must sign up at the door the day of each session. Comments may also be submitted in writing the day of the meeting.

More public briefings and opportunities for input will be available this spring and will be publicized as they are scheduled.

For those who have special needs, please call (865) 632-3770 at least 5 days prior to the meeting.
